

November 29, 1947 – 70 Years Later: The UN Recognition of a Jewish State and Human Rights

KEYNOTE SPEAKERS:

Daniel Pipes is the president of the Middle East Forum, whose columns appear regularly in newspapers around the globe. A known scholar and writer on American foreign policy, the Middle East, and Muslim history, he has participated in many on-going international discussions on the subject. Several sources have called him “one of the most authoritative commentators on the Middle East.”

Carole Basri is an Adjunct Law Professor of Iraqi Jewish descent teaching at Fordham Law School. She is an avid advocate for the rights of displaced refugees and has actively worked with documenting her ancestral roots.
