

MINORITY HEALTH AND HEALTH DISPARITIES RESEARCH TRAINING PROGRAM (MHRT)

The University of Miami School of Nursing and Health Studies encourages all undergraduate, graduate, Ph.D. and postdoctoral fellows from any U.S. University of higher education institution to apply to the

SUMMER 2022 COHORT

Applications are open for all academic disciplines interested in health disparities.

The aim of the program is to expand and enhance research capacity to create a culturally sensitive and competent workforce. The program will provide each trainee with skills and resources needed to ensure the successful launch of their research careers. Prior research experience preferred. Selected students will have all travel expenses paid plus stipend, and will participate in a:

- Two-week Intensive Global Health Disparities Summer Research Institute
- Ten-week research experience (may require travel)
- One-week seminar on research dissemination and preparation for a career in Health Disparities Research
- All travel expenses paid plus stipend

For more information, please contact:

Dr. Johis Ortega | (305) 284-1269 | mhirt@miami.edu

APPLICATIONS ARE OPEN SEPTEMBER 1ST TO NOVEMBER 30TH, 2021

www.miami.edu/sonhs/mhrt

*Please note calendar of activities may be subject to change according to University policies and governmental recommendations and restrictions.

COLOMBIA

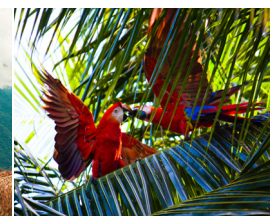

MEXICO

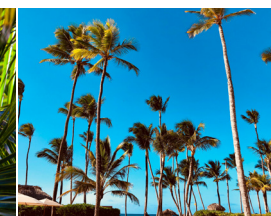

JAMAICA

PERU

COSTA RICA

DOMINICAN REPUBLIC